"Noah, his great ark, and all the animals. With pull-out shapes that help tell the story."--Page [4] cover.

The PLAYTIME app first appeared in Sofia & Isabella: Dr. Richards' Littles 8. This computer program connects Daddies, Mommies, Little boys, and Little girls through a complicated algorithm that creates perfect matches. The first three Dr. Richards' books to feature the PLAYTIME app are combined here for your pleasure and convenience. There is no additional or new material included in this volume. Sofia & Isabella: Dr. Richards' Little 8As veterinarians in practice together, these twin sisters have always been together. Their Little girl sides know that they would only be happy if they shared a Daddy. Computer specialist, Noah Sandoval has just perfected the PLAYTIME computer app to make their dreams and his own come true. Madi: Dr. Richards' Littles 12 Madeleine takes a chance and presses submit to send her application to the PLAYTIME app. Imagine her surprise when she is matched with both a Mommy and a Daddy who have been looking for their Little girl for a long time. Matty & Emma: Dr. Richards' Littles 16 Three strangers matched together by one computer app. Will the success of PLAYTIME continue? Jackson is hoping so. He's looked for the right Little to join his life. Now, he's matched with two. He's never going to let them go. Many of you have suggested to me that the world be a happier place if the PLAYTIME app actually existed. Enjoy these stories of Littles finding their perfectly matched Daddies and Mommy. The books in this series will feature invasive medical treatments including thorough examinations and enemas when required as well as diaper changes, bottle feedings, spankings and other punishments. If you are offended by any of these or by age-play, this is not the book or series

Three months later, Noah was amazed that over three thousand adults had signed up for his age play dating service. Named PLAYTIME, the target audience of dating service was obvious for those involved in the lifestyle while ambiguous enough for someone that just happened upon it or saw the app on someone's phone. There had been several successful matches between very happy Littles and their new Mommy or Daddy. Noah was keeping his fingers crossed that those matches would survive over time and grow deeper. His goal was to help everyone, including himself, find that special person who completed them. His computer began to emit a loud beeping sound. Noah immediately pulled up his PLAYTIME app to see a set of red flashing lips over the icon. "You are kidding me," Noah blinked in disbelief. He clicked on the icon and a notification flashed on to his screen. It stated, "Your Little has been found." Noah took a deep breath and clicked on the message. A picture of not one but two similar yet different women opened on his computer. They had dark hair and eyes with an olive complexion. They were very curvy - not obese but padded generously. Noah was glad to see that the app had not matched him with a model thin Little. He thought the two women were stunning. The name Sofialsabella appeared and there was a special notification that had been attached to the profile. He opened the notification and began reading, Dear Daddy, If this letter reaches you then you have been chosen as the closest match to become our Daddy. Sofia and I are twins. We have lived our lives together and have never chosen to be apart. It took many years for us to admit even to each other that we were attracted romantically to a man who would be a strong disciplinarian capable of keeping us safe and healthy. We have always known that we would love one man. Our bond is very strong and we will be happy only if we are together. This is not what most men would be looking for in a committed relationship. We are not looking for a fling or a brief flirtation with a ménage a trois. We are both individuals who are seeking our other half. We just know that our other half will be the same person. If you are serious and after reading this message you wish to meet us, Sofia and I are very hopeful that you are the one for whom we have been searching. Isabella and Sofia

This eighth story in the popular Dr. Richards' Little series, introduces three new characters. Noah is a software designer that creates PLAYTIME, an app to match prospective Littles with their perfect Mommy or Daddy. He is astounded to find that the app soon locates his perfect match or, should we say, matches? Characters from the first seven novel in this series reappear to continue their stories. You do not need to read the stories in order. All are complete stories. The books in this series will feature invasive medical treatments, including thorough examinations and enemas when required, as well as diaper changes, spankings and other punishments. If you are offended by age play (adults who choose to live as a Little or a parent of a Little) or dubious consent, this is not the book for you.

The crafts in this book coordinate with each lesson in the Noah's Park Leader's Guide. Each craft activity is designed to help reinforce the Bible story the children have heard and participated in during the lesson. The craft is also designed to help the children and their parents extend the learning even further by linking it to activities they can do at home during the following week. Each craft activity in the book has a list of supplies which should be obtained prior to the session.

Childhood. Think about the meaning of this word for us today as we near the end of the 20th century: a time to grow, a time to play, a time to learn, an idyllic time. Did the notion of childhood elicit the same thoughts for people in 18th- and 19th-century America? Indeed, was there even such a concept as "childhood" then, or is it instead a 20th-century invention that we have come to take for granted? These are difficult questions, in part because there never has been one universal understanding of childhood. How earlier generations viewed life's first stage depended on such factors as where they lived, their occupations, and their legal status as free, indentured, or enslaved Americans. One's experience and memories of childhood would have differed widely. A child working on the family farm in New England, the daughter of wealthy Philadelphians attending needlework school, or an enslaved African girl serving as a house maid in Virginia--all surely experienced childhood very differently. KIDS! explores the many ways in which adults shaped the world of children in America between 1700 and 1900. It looks closely at the furniture, the books, the clothing, the toys, and the games used by and created for children, and it tells stories about growing up in early America. Above all, it invites readers to learn through history. Using objects and the stories that surround them, KIDS! puts us in touch with the past and, in so doing, moves us closer to understanding the present.

Shows those looking for love how to identify their natural flirting style and use it to flirt smarter and attract the best person for them.

Focusing on questions of space and locale in children ' s literature, this collection explores how metaphorical and physical space can create landscapes of power, knowledge, and identity in texts from the early nineteenth century to the present. The contributors, who include Philip Pullman discussing his relationship to space and locale, analyze works from a range of sources and traditions by Sylvia Plath, Gloria Anzaldúa, Jenny Robson, C.S. Lewis, and Elizabeth Knox, among others.
